

Ravi Tennekoon

Professor of Law of International Finance at King's College London

Professor Tennekoon has taught the Law of International Finance at King's College London for many years. He was until recently a full-time practitioner in the City and was a Partner in the global law firm of Herbert Smith in London in international capital markets and banking. Subsequently he was Global Head of Legal for Financial Markets and International General Counsel with a major European investment bank responsible for its global legal work in the Banks major legal centres from London, New York, Hong Kong, Singapore, Sydney and several other major global centres. Some years ago, he was selected by the Chambers Directory of lawyers as one of the leading lawyers in international capital markets. He is the author of The Law and Regulation of International Finance (Butterworths). He was also a lecturer and tutor in laws at Trinity College, University of Oxford, after reading law on a Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford.